

MEN'S
Sole Revival

FOR MEN OVER 40 WHO ARE FINALLY PAYING ATTENTION.

The Men's Foot Health Assessment.

5-minute self-check · What to look for
What's serious · What you can fix yourself

77%

have foot pain annually

Source: APMA

1 in 3

ever seek help for it

Source: APMA

63–72%

wear the wrong shoe size

Source: PMC

HOW TO USE THIS

Work through each section.

Check anything that applies.

Count your flags at the end.

Use the action guide on page 3.

SEE A DOCTOR IF:

- Open wounds not healing
- Severe swelling or redness
- Numbness or tingling
- Diabetes + any foot wound
- Suspected fracture · Intense sudden pain

Non-emergency self-assessment only.

MEN'S
Sole Revival

SECTION 01

Nail Health

Check both feet. Toenail problems are extremely common and very treatable — most men just don't know what they're looking at.

LOOK FOR:

- ☐ Nails are thick, yellowed, white, or brittle
- ☐ Nails crumble or break easily at the edges
- ☐ One or more nails are lifting away from the nail bed
- ☐ Any nail has dark spots or streaks under it
- ☐ Big toenail curves into the skin at the sides
- ☐ Nails are growing unevenly or in a curved shape
- ☐ There is pain, redness, or discharge around any nail

3+ checks: likely fungal infection or ingrown nail — see action guide on page 3.

8.57% of adults have toenail fungus. OTC treatments only cure 16–23% of cases.

Source: Gupta et al., Mycoses 2024

SECTION 02

Skin & Heels

Your heels have no oil glands. Cracking is biological, not a hygiene failure. But it is fixable.

LOOK FOR:

- ☐ Heels have visible cracks or fissures (even shallow ones)
- ☐ Skin on heels or balls of feet is hard, calloused, or rough
- ☐ Skin peels between or around toes (athlete's foot pattern)
- ☐ There is redness, scaling, or itching between toes
- ☐ Heels crack and bleed during dry months or after activity
- ☐ Skin on the soles feels tight or pulls when flexing the foot

2+ checks: a daily emollient routine after your shower solves most of this in 2–3 weeks.

20–40% of adults experience cracked heel skin. Diabetic men: 2× the rate.

Source: National Foot Health Assessment / AAFP

SECTION 03

Pain & Inflammation

Foot pain is information. Location tells you the likely cause.

CHECK ALL THAT APPLY:

- ☐ Sharp heel pain with the first steps in the morning (then eases)
- ☐ Burning or aching in the arch during or after standing
- ☐ Ball-of-foot pain when walking or wearing dress shoes
- ☐ Any joint in the foot is swollen, red, or warm to touch
- ☐ Pain in the big toe joint — especially after rich food or alcohol
- ☐ General aching in both feet by end of day

Morning heel pain = plantar fasciitis. Big toe + warmth after eating = possible gout (see a doctor).

40–60 Peak age range for plantar fasciitis. ~1 million US patient visits per year.

Source: NIH / NCBI StatPearls

SECTION 04

Alignment & Structure

Misalignment doesn't stay in your feet — it travels to your knees, hips, and lower back.

LOOK FOR:

- ☐ Big toe leans toward the second toe (early bunion formation)
- ☐ Lesser toes (2nd–4th) curl downward when you relax your foot
- ☐ You have corns or calluses on the tops of bent toes
- ☐ You feel stiffness or limited movement in your big toe joint
- ☐ Your feet turn outward when you walk (duck-footed gait)

Alignment issues compound over years. Early toe spreader work can slow or reverse drift.

SECTION 05

Footwear Fit

63–72% of men wear the wrong size. Narrow toe boxes are the upstream cause of most alignment problems.

QUICK FIT CHECK:

- ☐ Toes feel compressed when shoes are laced or buckled
- ☐ Haven't had feet measured in the last 5 years
- ☐ Shoe width pinches the widest part of your foot
- ☐ Your heel slips out of the back when you walk

WHAT TO DO WITH YOUR RESULTS

0–2 FLAGS

You're in good shape.

Build a nightly 5-min routine. Check your footwear fit. Revisit in 3 months.

3–5 FLAGS

Worth addressing now.

Start with the highest-pain item. One condition at a time beats doing nothing.

6+ FLAGS

It's been building a while.

See a podiatrist for pain and structural issues. Address skin, nails, and fit yourself.

Full guides, routines, and reviews at menssolevival.com